

University of North Texas

Department/Unit: Center for the Study of Military History

Date: Feb. 1, 2004

Person Completing the Form: Richard Lowe

Email: lowe@unt.edu

Department/Unit Head (after reviewing the form): Richard Lowe

Mission: To encourage better understanding of the role of the military in modern society by (1) publishing a scholarly journal; (2) holding an annual military-history seminar for invited guests; (3) establishing an endowed chair in military history; (4) establishing scholarships in military history at UNT

Expected Outcomes	Assessment Tools/Measurement	Assessment Results	Changes based on Results Taken	How do changes help UNT meet its Vision and support student learning?
Publish scholarly journal	Quality of articles and book reviews and high reputation of authors	Some decline due to lower funding in the last few years	Intensified fund-raising efforts	Supports History Department's focus on military history
Hold annual military-history seminar	Quality of speakers and good attendance	Maintaining very high levels	None	Supports History Department's focus on military history
Establish endowed chair in military history	Quality and reputation of holder of chair	None yet. Just starting process to find holder	Inviting 2 experts to campus, Spring 2004, to consult	Chair holder will direct Center, teach, raise funds
Establish scholarships in military history	Number and amount of grants	Barsanti Scholarships established, 2000	None	Provides funds for graduate students in military history