

John Baschab

John is a co-founder of Impact Innovations, and currently the President of Technisource Management Services which includes the IT Optimization (ITO), Application Management (AMO) and Shared Services practice groups.

John began his career with a degree in MIS from the University of Alabama, where he was selected as the top graduate in his major by university faculty, and was awarded the prestigious Seebeck award for achievement in Computer Science.

John continued his career in the IT department of BellSouth Services, and in the technology and finance department of Intergraph Corp. He received his MBA with honors in Behavioral Science from the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business. While there he was awarded the Deans Award of Distinction, for exemplary scholarship and service.

Post MBA, John worked as a technology strategy consultant to Fortune 500 companies in the Chicago office of management consultancy Booz-Allen & Hamilton, working in the consumer packaged goods industry vertical.

He is also an adjunct faculty member in the engineering management and information systems (EMIS) department at Southern Methodist University.

John Baschab is Author, "Executives Guide to Information Technology".