

Jon Piot

Piot is co-author of Amazon.com best-selling book, “The Executives Guide to Information Technology”. Piot is also the co-founder and prior CEO of Impact Innovations Group, a leading provider of technology services. Impact was purchased by Technisource, Inc. in 2005. The combined companies provide information technology and engineering services in more than 30 markets across the United States through three divisions: Technisource Consulting Services, Technisource Management Services, and Technisource Integration & Support Services. The company’s customer base of Fortune 500 and middle market companies represents a wide variety of industries including: insurance, banking and finance, telecommunications, health care, manufacturing, retail and government. The company is headquartered in Little Rock, Ark. Piot currently serves as the President and CIO of Technisource Solutions Group. Piot is quoted regularly among major business publications on key technology issues including recent articles in Computerworld and Infoworld. He also authored the Professional Services Firm Bible published by John Wiley & Sons and numerous articles on IT and serves as an adjunct professor at Southern Methodist University.

Prior to founding Impact in 1998, Piot was with Booz-Allen & Hamilton, an information technology strategy consultancy. He began his career at Andersen Consulting (now Accenture), developing mission critical computer applications for Fortune 500 companies. He has also served as VP of Operations for a startup software company whose rights for Fox Software products were acquired by Microsoft.

He earned an MBA from Harvard Business School and holds a degree in computer science from Southern Methodist University.